The Eric O'Connor Event 1998

Gay & Lesbian Spirituality and the Christian Churches

An exploration of the issues through film, spoken word, presentations, panel and audience discussions.

The Eric O'Connor Series

This series is dedicated to the man, Eric R. O'Connor, S.J., and to what he believed in and stood for. Eric O'Connor believed that life was a learning process that should never stop; that learning was a process that grew and evolved in the way we shared the quest and the questions. Drawn to learning by his own intense curiosity he believed that we all can be caught up in the quest for knowledge.

The first annual Eric O'Connor Series, took place in 1993 at Concordia University. It invited participants to explore, from the Christian perspective, the way in which various traditions address the questions of justice and peace. It continues this March 25 at 7:00 pm in the Loyola Chapel, and we are hoping that you will be able to join us.

Campus Ministry would like to invite you to attend this year's Eric O'Connor Event. Led by our speaker and panelists, we will reflect on the nature of gay and lesbian spirituality, what it has to say to the Christian Churches, and the points of tension in the Churches' relationship with their gay and lesbian members. Our speaker will be:

Donald Boisvert, Ph.D.

with panelists:

Darryl MacDonald, Gregory Baum, Alison Carpenter, Martha Saunders
